

Samuels' retirement decision up to four months away

Posted by Gregg Rosenthal on October 23, 2009, 7:42 PM EST

In response to a report that Redskins left tackle Chris Samuels will retire due to a neck injury, we're told that a final decision is not expected for three or four months.

Samuels is being evaluated by Dr. Robert Watkins, a Southern California spine specialist whose NFL patients include former Chiefs running back Priest Holmes.

Samuels, we're told, has been experiencing numbness below the waist since injuring his neck two weeks ago.

Samuels was the third overall pick in the 2000 draft. He is under contract with the Redskins through 2011.

Permalink | 6 Comments | Latest Stories in: Injuries, Rumor Mill, Top Stories, Washington Redskins

Tweet 0 Like 1 Email

Previous: Raiders try to keep Michael Silver out

Next: Chris Samuels confirms he has yet to make a decision on retirement

6 Responses to "Samuels' retirement decision up to four months away"

WorldChampionBears2009 says:
Oct 23, 2009 7:52 PM

"Samuels, we're told, has been experiencing numbness below the waist since injuring his neck two weeks ago."

I CAN'T FEEL MY D I CAN'T FEEL MY D OH GOD NO!!!!

Like 0 Dislike 0

CutlerIsACryBaby says:
Oct 23, 2009 8:12 PM

» Search

» Watch ProFootballTalk

PRO FOOTBALL TALK ONLINE: WEEKDAYS 12 PM ET WATCH NOW

ON FRIDAY'S SHOW:
BUCCANEERS RB BOBBY RAINEY,
PFT PLANET CALLS & TWEETS

ON NBCSN: WEEKDAYS 5:30 PM ET

ON FRIDAY'S SHOW:
CARDINALS DT DARNELL DOCKETT,
WEEK 12 STORYLINES TO WATCH

» NBC Sports Channel Finder

Enter your zip code to find NBC Sports Network near you

Click here for NBC Sports Network TV listings

» Featured Video

0:00 / 1:21

Steelers should embrace the passing game